Manage machine tools made in Japan with precaution (2024.6.28)

About this material

The Japan Machine Tool Builders' Association, or JMTBA prepared this material to precaution users of machine tools made in Japan on managing your machine tools from the perspective of security and export control.

In Japan, the management of machine tools is subject to regulations based on international regimes for security and export control, and by Japanese laws. Please pay attention in order not to cause any incidents related to security and export control, by understanding the substance of this material.

CAUTION

There are cases that require obtaining individual consent from METI Japan prior to transfer, re-sale or export of machine tools regardless of whether they are new or used ones. Please contact your supplier of the machine tools prior to these actions. If you can't contact, please consult the manufacturer of the machine tools.
